VVZ-LEZ005-T Climbing tower

The climbing tower is a compact play element designed for climbing from several sides and overcoming a variety of physical challenges. The HPL walls are equipped with climbing holds and allow several children to use the element at the same time. Climbing naturally supports the development of strength, agility, movement coordination and overall physical fitness. The steel structure with a durable surface finish is designed for long-term outdoor use. The HPL walls and stainless-steel fasteners contribute to high durability and a long service life.
